
Late Registration

A student cannot register in classes offered by any school or college after one week following the first day of classes in a regular semester or the equivalent period of time for other sessions or classes. Class session meeting dates may be found in the class details on myZou (<http://myzou.missouri.edu>).

A late registration fee equal to the tuition for one undergraduate credit hour will be assessed starting the first day of classes for the regular session for the term.

Exceptions to this rule are enrollments in class sections of graduate exam, internships, problems, research and special readings.
