

MEd in Learning, Teaching and Curriculum with Emphasis in Literacy Education

Degree Requirements

The MEd degree in Literacy Education requires a minimum of 30 semester hours of graduate coursework. Courses are sequenced and semester-based. Students can choose from a 2 year plan or 4 year plan. The majority of students take two classes per semester, and earn their masters degree in two years. Successful completion of the program requires 9 credit hours of core course work, courses in literacy pedagogy and assessment (12 credit hours), and courses in language, culture and leadership (12 credit hours).

More information about the Literacy Education M.Ed. program (<https://online.missouri.edu/degrees-programs/mu/education/literacy-education/m-ed/>) can be found on the Missouri Online website.

Certification Admissions

Applicants are required to meet two sets of minimum qualifications for admission: the requirements of the MEd in Learning, Teaching and Curriculum program (<https://gradschool.missouri.edu/degreecategory/learning/>) and the minimum requirements of the Graduate School (<https://gradschool.missouri.edu/admissions/eligibility-process/>). Because requirements vary, you must refer to a degree program's graduate admission page to learn about specific admission criteria, application deadlines, eligibility and application process. Your application materials will be reviewed by both the Graduate School and the degree program to which you've applied before official admission to the University of Missouri.

The LTC graduate program cannot assure admission to all applicants who meet minimum standards specified for the degree program. Resource constraints do not permit the admission of all qualified applicants.

A committee of faculty reviews the credentials of each applicant. It is the responsibility of this committee to exercise professional judgment related to the criteria that applicants must meet in order to be considered for admission to the program.
