Credit Hours: 3

SOCIOL 3330: Environmental Justice
(same as PEA_ST 3330). Environmental justice refers to the ways in which the ‘cost and benefits’ of modern industrial society are distributed among social groups. This course is concerned with justice, not as an abstract concept, and inequality not in terms of numbers in a bank account. Social justice or inequality are lived, embodied experiences. An individual’s likelihood of experiencing environmental harm is related to intersecting gender, race and class formations, among other things. Justice or inequality is not only embodied, it also happens in places--national and regional differences matter. In this course we will look at some of the extensive literature documenting the ways in which communities of color and poor communities are subject to disproportionate environmental risks. In addition, we will focus on gender as an important category in understanding environmental inequality.

Credit Hours: 3

SOCIOL 9487: Seminar in Sociological Theory II
Theoretical developments in sociology in Europe and United States since 1950. Recent formulations, controversies.

Credit Hours: 3
Prerequisites: SOCIOL 8100 or equivalent

SOCIOL 9525: Culture, Difference, and Inequality
This course is an examination of exemplary, interdisciplinary texts employing a variety of cultural approaches to understanding difference and inequality. In this seminar, we will think about what is gained from various cultural approaches to difference and inequality, how such approaches can be achieved methodologically, and how students can apply such approaches to their own research. The main focus of the course is on cultural studies and poststructural feminist studies, but readings will also be included from intersectionality studies, affect studies, critical race studies and cultural sociology.

Credit Hours: 3
Prerequisites: restricted to Sociology graduate students or instructor permission

SOCIOL 9687: Topical Seminar in Historical Sociology
Methodological approaches to sociological explanation of historical phenomena; related sociological theories of historical development, including Weberian, Marxist and other perspectives applied to a topical historical problem.

Credit Hours: 3
Prerequisites: SOCIOL 8100 or equivalent

SOCIOL 9777: Graduate Seminar in Body and Society
The course is organized around three major themes - body as a site of personal and political experience; the social body, emphasizing the relationship between society, culture, and individuals; and the body as a site and instrument of politics. Readings assigned for the course are aimed at critical engagement with the 'body: within and across these themes. Graded on A-F basis only.

Credit Hours: 3

SOCIOL 9887: Seminar in Sociology of Gender
Analysis of recent research in which gender is a major focus. This research is chosen to exemplify a variety of theoretical perspectives, research strategies, and substantive topics.
