Defense and Strategic Studies

Defense and Strategic Studies is an important area of study centered on understanding political and military strategy, including understanding topics such as, military power and effectiveness, intelligence, diplomacy, and deterrence. These subjects are continually important for understanding international politics and security in an increasingly complex world.

Faculty

Associate Professors S. L. Quackenbush, L. K. Williams
Affiliate Professors C. N. Conklin*, L. R. Keiser*, J. D. Milyo*, M. A. Stegmaier*

* Graduate Faculty Member - membership is required to teach graduate-level courses, chair master's thesis committees, and serve on doctoral examination and dissertation committees.
 Doctoral Faculty Member - membership is required to chair doctoral examination or dissertation committees. Graduate faculty membership is a prerequisite for Doctoral faculty membership.

Undergraduate

There currently is not an undergraduate program for Defense and Strategic Studies. Please see Political Science (https://nextcatalog.missouri.edu/undergraduategraduate/collegeofartsandscience/politicalscience/#undergraduatetext) for similar degree programs.

Graduate

- MA in Defense and Strategic Studies (http://catalog.missouri.edu/undergraduategraduate/collegeofartsandscience/defensestrategicstudies/ma-defense-strategic-studies/)