

Student Conduct - Law Students

The academic life of students at the School of Law is governed by a Code of Honor that has been adopted by the Faculty and the Student Bar Association.

Students should note that they generally will be required to report any Honor Code violation on state bar application forms.

The Honor Code is available at <https://law.missouri.edu/academics/policies-rules-student-conduct/>.

Students may have to appear before the Office of Student Accountability and Support (<https://accountability.missouri.edu/>) for conduct that violates university or other rules.

Incidents involving bias or harassment can be reported through the Office of Civil Rights and Title IX. Information is available at <https://equity.missouri.edu/>.
