

BSBA in Business Administration with Emphasis in Management

Degree Program Description

Students pursuing a degree in Business Administration will gain exposure to multiple areas of business including Accounting, Economics, Finance and Banking, Management, and Marketing. By selecting an emphasis in management, students will take courses focusing on supply chain management, human resource management, and entrepreneurship. Students will learn knowledge and skills needed to manage value-adding processes and projects; to coordinate and lead human resources to accomplish organizational goals; and the mindset and skills to become an entrepreneur and to innovate within an organization. Students with a management emphasis accept positions as consultants, project managers, supply chain analysts, human resource managers, and in management rotational career positions.
